

PHINDaccess Third Newsletter (November 2021)

PHINDaccess extended for one more year!

ONE MORE YEAR!

PHINDaccess is officially extended for one more year, until September 2022.

This additional period will allow the project team to catch up with the delays in the progress of several activities which suffered from the COVID-19 crisis and to move forward in the implementation of the project's objectives.

Previous events

Workshop: "Grants Offices Best Practices: Administrative and Financial Aspects for European Projects", June 14, 2021

Read more...

Two courses: "SLURM into practice", June 18 and 25, 2021

Read more...

Science café: "Research on infectious diseases in the era of omics and big data", September 15, 2021

Read more...

Second hackathon: "Study of the genetic susceptibility to COVID19 and SARS-CoV-2 human host pathogen interactions", October 28-29, 2021

Read more...

Two webinars: "European Funding Opportunities" and "Introduction to project design". November 9 and 30, 2021

Read more...

PHINDaccess scientific mobilities

Within WP4 activities, which objectives are to increase the scientific impact and merit of IPT's research in specific PHI topic by transfer of expertise, two members of IPT's technological facility were trained during their stay at Biomics Core Facility at the Institut Pasteur (Paris, France).

More scientific stays are scheduled during this last period of the project.
Read more...

Seifeddine Azouz
Engineer at IPT's
technological facility

PHINDaccess Retreat

To prepare the last phase of the project (until September 2022), the PHINDaccess team organized a retreat with all the people from the Institut Pasteur de Tunis involved in the project implementation (WP's and task leaders).

The objective was to have a clear idea on the advancement of the different tasks, to prepare the events to be organized and finally, increase the synergy between the Work packages.

This retreat gave also the opportunity to the team to strengthen the interactions within the institution and to prepare guidelines for a better collaboration inside IPT.

Upcoming events

Seminar "Enhancing Fundraising and Grants Management capacities", January 26-27, 2022

Read more...

Annual meeting and Scientific conference

February 2022

Stay close to PHINDaccess activities!
Follow us on our website and social media

www.phindaccess.org

